

DESERT SPLENDOUR TOUR - 08 DAYS

Rajasthan, the magical land set amidst the desolate desert beauty is fascinating-from miles of golden stretches of sand to magnificent forts, marvelous palaces and havelis.

Bikaner stands on a slightly raised ground and is encircled by a seven km long wall with five gates. The magnificent forts and palaces in reddish-pink sandstone, bear testimony to its rich historical and architectural legacy. Colourful bazaars, bright and cheerful people make Bikaner an interesting experience.

Jaisalmer, known for its golden fort, made of yellow sandstone, is an important center of handicrafts in Rajasthan. Sandstone carvings and block printed fabrics made here find their way across the world. The carved mansions and Jain temples of Jaisalmer are worth seeing. The sand dunes at Sam, near Jaisalmer are the site of the annual Desert Festival.

Manvar lies right in the heart of the Great Indian Thar Desert between the cities of Jodhpur & Jaisalmer. It's an unprecedented tourist destination offering a rare opportunity to enjoy Rajasthan's desert life, culture, wildlife & beauty. The Manvar Desert Camp is located in the midst of the wilderness surrounded by sand dunes. Evenings are livened up by campfire, mashaals and local musicians and dancers.

Jodhpur a city, near the Thar Desert in Rajasthan, is known for its impressive Mehrangarh fort. Founded by Rao Jodha, this city is called the "Blue City" for the blue painted walls of the houses in the town. The magnificent Ummaid Bhawan Palace is another landmark that must be seen in Jodhpur. Its museum contains many artifacts of the royal times in Jodhpur.
